CLUB NEWS AND EVENTS

FROM THE CEO/GM

It's been a delightful winter thus far at The Ford Plantation with great events and outstanding weather. Member response to many special events has been extremely positive, and in fact, two Club traditions—Christmas Eve Dinner and our version of the Low Country Oyster Roast—experienced record participation. This positive energy around the property is contagious and wonderful to see.

As I settle in to my new role as CEO/General Manager, I continue to be impressed by the natural beauty, history, diversity of amenities, and array of experiences available every day at the Club. Even with all of these wonderful “things,” the one element that should be the envy of all other clubs is the “social infrastructure” that exists at Ford.

Community developers often speak in terms of core competencies and make considerable investments to convert these to sustainable strategic differentiators. One of the most special elements of life at this Club is the manner in which relationships form within the community, member to member and member to staff in a totally organic fashion. I applaud each of you for doing your part to make this a reality and am humbled to be a part of this culture.

I find it particularly gratifying to see the home building activity at Ford. With several new homes started or completed in 2011, our community will soon exceed 150 homes! Not only does this represent a significant milestone for the community, it is nice to see more families choosing to make Ford their home.

A special thank you to all members who have volunteered to serve on advisory committees this year. Service on a Club committee can be both enlightening and rewarding—not to mention extremely valuable to the Club and your fellow members.

Looking ahead, the Club calendar contains several signature events over the next couple of months, so we encourage you to make plans to be an active participant. If, on the other hand, you would prefer to seek solace for a much deserved long weekend, a Plantation visit can provide the perfect venue. Either way, we look forward to seeing you and are available to assist with creating just the right atmosphere.

Warmest regards,

Nick Cassala
Chief Executive Officer and General Manager

It is located on the Ogeechee River, 20 nautical miles from the Intracoastal Waterway among a network of pristine creeks and scenic canals. Yachts of up to 65 feet are accommodated with all the modern conveniences, yet the Marina retains the unpretentious charm of a coastal village.

HANDICAP REPORTING

Members are kindly reminded to report all acceptable golf scores to ensure the integrity of our Handicap System. The Handicap Committee wants to ensure an active and fair tournament schedule for the upcoming year, so we've outlined a few frequently asked questions to help guide you through the reporting season.

How and where are scores returned?

The Handicap computer is located in the golf shop adjacent to the assistants' office. If you do not have a GHIN number, please contact the golf staff for assistance. Once you have an established GHIN number, simply "search" for your name and follow all prompts for score entry.

How often is my Handicap Index updated?

Your Handicap Index is updated every two weeks.

How do I post away scores?

There are two ways to post an "away" score. If you have the GHIN system at another club, we can simply align your GHIN numbers and when you post at one club, the score will be posted here also. The other way is to select the "away score" prompt and enter the slope/rating and score. The golf shop will gladly assist with any posting.

Do I have to enter in all my scores?

The Handicap Committee does not stipulate that you post a score when playing by yourself. The Committee does however require all other scores to be posted—both 9 and 18 hole scores. The only exception to this rule is posting a score in an "inactive season." For instance, a score cannot be posted in a Northern climate in December or January, so you would not post a score from Oakland Hills in December or January.

Which rounds will be designated as tournament scores?

The Committee has identified any event in which an 18 hole score is kept—Club Championship, first round of the Men's and Ladies' Member-Member, and The England.

DIVOTS ON THE PRACTICE RANGE

The practice tee is one of the most heavily used turf areas on the entire golf course. The concentration of traffic, divots, and play at this location must be managed properly. The goal is to make smaller divots, resulting in less turf disturbance. This will ultimately lead to a better playing experience.

Scatter Shot Method: This picture shows a station where 30 golf shots have been struck. More than 4 square feet of turf is removed using this method. This actually reduces the practice experience of the next member.

Well Intentioned: From a young age, many golfers have been taught to practice like in this example. Although this "well intentioned" method is performed in an effort to minimize divots, healing time is dramatically lengthened from 30–40 days to almost 60 days. Turfgrass will always recover, rejuvenate, and regrow faster vegetatively, rather than through seed. Therefore, the larger and wider the divot, the longer timely recovery will take.

Preferred Divot Pattern, The Line Method: We call this the "line method." It's pretty simple: place the ball behind the previous divot and repeat this process for up to 10 shots. When you watch the golf pros on television practice, you will notice they take their divots in a pattern. They place the ball directly behind a previous divot. This results in the second divot being much smaller, approximately 3 x 3 inches. After 30 shots, you will have only removed 2.5 square feet of turf. When you use the "line method," you remove 60% less turf. This keeps the tee in better shape all year, especially during our busiest season when the turf is not growing vigorously. You'll be amazed at how the divots shrink.

A review of all three methods with the preferred on the right.

STAFF EDUCATION DAY

Throughout the year, the golf course maintenance staff, led by Nelson Caron, takes part in on-course educational tours, designed to reinforce regular maintenance practices and to review standard operating procedures. The tours cover topics such as golfer expectations, mowing practices, bunker maintenance, and general course information.

Getting up close is part of the process of seeing the intricacies of what we do on a daily basis.

GOLF COURSE BLOG

The Ford Plantation Golf Course Maintenance Department maintains an online blog to keep members informed on the most current golf course maintenance practices and latest course conditions. Follow the conversation!

WWW.TFPAGRONOMY.BLOGSPOT.COM

Answering questions is an important aspect of getting everyone on the same page.

It is a good idea to have refresher courses throughout the year to minimize mistakes and increase work quality.

At the end of the tour the crew was given a chance to experience first hand the high quality their hard work has produced.

FISH ENHANCEMENT PROGRAM IN LAKES STERLING AND DYE

Shad and bluegill are the building blocks for establishing a strong bass fishery. During November and December of 2011, we stocked more than 9,000 bluegill, 2,000 sunfish, and 200 largemouth bass into Lake Sterling. This is a great recipe for a strong fishery in years to come. All of these fish will spawn this year, adding yet more game fish to the watershed. A large number of adult channel catfish can also be caught in the lake.

We also have plans to add a diffusion aeration system to Lake Sterling similar to the system installed in Lake Dye this past fall. This system will help to improve the quality of the water in the lake.

Another portion of our annual fish enhancement program is to construct artificial reefs in the lakes. Using discarded Christmas trees, we create terrific hiding places for forage fish and great feeding zones for largemouth bass and crappie. More than 60 tree-reefs will be added to both Lake Dye and Lake Sterling. The trees will last for more than ten years in a fresh water lake.

Lake Sterling should be producing some good fishing in time for our Hook and Slice Tournament this coming spring!

As a part of our Lake Sterling fish restocking program, we released more than 9,000 bluegill, 2,000 sunfish, and 200 largemouth bass. Here, Charlie Bernstein holds a largemouth bass ready for release into Lake Sterling.

2011 ANGLER OF THE YEAR: BOB BERNSTEIN

Fishing in 2011 at The Ford Plantation was fantastic. The year started off a bit chilly, but we had an incredible redfish bite right in our marina. Cobia season in the spring was off the hook. After several slow years of tarpon fishing, this year was amazing! And as the weather turned cool, the big bull reds were very hungry. It was truly a great fishing year!

As the Outdoor Pursuits staff started to evaluate this past season to determine the Angler of the Year, it became really clear who the winner was to be....

Bob Bernstein is the 2011 TFP Angler of the Year. Bob racked up two big tournament wins: the Silva Dollar Tarpon tournament, with his first two tarpon, and The Hunt for Big Red tournament, with his first big bull redfish (along with his fishing mates the Gillespie men). He also harvested his first big 8 point buck deer this season, which can be seen hanging on the wall in his house along with his fishing trophies!

Congratulations to Bob on his achievements. He will receive a Half Day Fishing Trip, along with a gift certificate for $100 to Ogeechee Outfitters. Good luck to all the anglers out there getting ready for another great year of fishing. See you on the water.

EQUESTRIAN PURSUITS

PONY PLAY DAYS A HIT

Children ages six and older learned about stable management and grooming, experienced leading and round-pen work, and had mounted lessons during Pony Play Days the week after Christmas. This was quite a popular event, with 18 kids attending!

Mark your calendar now for spring and summer Pony Play Days—April 4–6, June 25–29, and July 23–27. Registrations are being accepted through the members' only web site for these fun and educational events.

COUPLES EQUINE CONNECTION FEBRUARY 16

The Ford Plantation Equestrian Center is proud to offer “Equine Connection,” an innovative personal discovery program where participants explore their communication, relationship, and leadership styles through interactions with a horse. Created and developed by Equestrian Center Manager Sheryl Jordan more than 15 years ago, this program is available to everyone and does not require any previous horse-handling or riding experience.

This unique program offers couples an opportunity to connect and interact with horses by learning how these animals communicate with us and interact with each other as a herd. Participants will recognize powerful parallels between the horse and human relationships.

Through groundwork and round-pen exercises, participants will learn how to relate to horses on many levels. Through this interaction, they will develop a deeper awareness of their communication, relationship, and leadership styles and skills.

By successfully achieving goals working with the horse in the round-pen, participants will be given effective communication and leadership tools to carry into other aspects of their lives. Bring an open mind and open heart to the program to maximize this opportunity. Please register for this event through the members' only web site.
